Miss Christine Akers, of St. Louis, spent Easter Sunday with Farmington relatives.

Raymond Pepin and Harold Williams, visited Knob Lick friends the last of the week.

Mrs. Vince DeDonato accompanied her father, J. C. Watson, home from the city Wednesday evening.

John Roberts, who is working in St. Louis, spent Easter Sunday with his parents and friends here.

Miss Leona Efferin, who has a position in St. Louis, spent Saturday and Sunday with her parents.

Miss Harriet Pease, of St. Louis, spent Easter Sunday with her father, Harry Pease, and Miss Norma Ruth.

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Byington and little son, Leo, of Flat River, spent the week-end with Mrs. Byington's mother, Mrs. E. M. Sheets.

Frank Seitz, expert shoe maker of Cape Girardeau, arrived here Sunday to accept a position in the Karsch Shoe Store.

Misses Mame and Margaret Thomas went to St. Louis Monday for the purpose of consulting a specialist regarding the latter's health.

Misses Cecelia and Lella Best returned the first of the week to their work in St. Louis, after a week's visit with relatives and friends here.

Eugene Karsch, who has a position in the Night and Day Bank in St. Louis, spent Saturday and Sunday with relatives and friends here.

Frank Brewer, who is a student at Marvyn College, in Fredericktown, spent his Easter vacation in Farmington with his aunt, Mrs. John Robinson.

Chas. W. Francisco, the newly appointed Highway Engineer for St. Francois county, is expected to arrive today to give bond and to be installed in that office.

Dr. J. C. Rhodes, a splendid young man and a good dentist, late of Wayne county, recently opened an office in Elvins, where he already reports a fair run of business.

Mrs. H. E. Klein is very ill at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. A. Tetley, whom she is visiting. Mr. Klein was called from St. Louis Tuesday and is remaining with her.

The recent drop in paint is making itself manifest in Farmington. Many homes and properties are being made more attractive by a new dressing, which is also keeping all painters busy.

Park Bleck, who is employed with the Missouri Pacific Railway Co., with headquarters in St. Louis, arrived Saturday for a brief visit with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. O. W. Bleck. He returned to the city Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Evans, of Smithville, Texas, arrived here Wednesday for a few days visit with many relatives and old friends. Mr. Evans was born here, but left for Texas forty odd years ago, where he became permanently anchored.

Mrs. Homer Wright and infant daughter, Gwendolyn, and Mrs. Dale Anderson, all of Muskogee, Okla., arrived in Farmington Tuesday for visits with relatives and friends. The former is a daughter of Mrs. H. D. Radle, while the latter is her niece.

Chas. Baker, one of Farmington's most prominent colored citizens, who is employed in the Bank of Farmington, was in the city the last of the week in St. Louis, to Miss Ona Williams, a close friend, to whom many friends here join in best wishes to him and his bride.

Judge J. S. Clay is having splendid improvements made at his home on Columbia street. He is having his basement enlarged to sufficient size to hold a winter's supply of coal, and a new garage will take the place of the old barn. Not only that, but much of sand and gravel, which had been the foundation for the barn, is going into the street connecting Commercial and Liberty, which had become badly washed. This improvement will be greatly appreciated by all, and especially by auto drivers.

The club women throughout the county are interested in reforestation and preservation laws and urge that scenic areas be preserved. If the areas be of nation-wide importance, steps should be taken to make a national park, and areas of local interest should be made state, county or city parks, and clubs urge the preservation and planting of shade trees along public highways. At a recent meeting the Monday Club voted to co-operate in this movement. Save the trees.

The Misses Swink were "at home" to twelve of Miss Dorris Swink's most intimate friends Saturday afternoon. When the guests were taken for refreshments into the beautifully decorated dining room, they found the wedding date of Miss Dorris Swink to Mr. Chas. Herald, of St. Louis, for June, arranged in a very clever manner. The Knowles orchestra played during the hour. Out-of-town guests were: Miss Herald of St. Louis, Miss Leah Giesling of Desloge, and Mrs. Lyman Matthews of Oran.

Miss Olga Mitchell, of Esther, is now working for the Miners & Merchants Bank of Flat River. Miss Mabel Moon, of Charleston, received a telegram offering her a good position in Charleston, although she expected to attend Business College for at least a month and a half longer. Miss Sophie Crawford, of Farmington, just accepted a position with Beckler, Rulston, of St. Louis, and Miss Daisy Black, of Corning, Ark., began with Jas. Clarke Leather Co. Students of Orank Business College, of Farmington, Mo., are so well trained that big concerns are bidding against each other right now for their services. Of the above girls, only one is a graduate, the others leaving because of the inducements held out to them in the way of good positions.

"Guests" Crowding at "Hotel" Hunt

Accommodations at "Hotel" Hunt are becoming more and more strained as the demand for accommodations in that hostelry continues to multiply under the present Republican administration. What significance there is in that fact, if any, The Times will leave to its readers to try and solve.

It is a fact, however, that there are probably a larger number of inmates in that institution than ever before, except in cases of riot. St. Francois county, while having a large population, has always been an unusually orderly community, with comparatively few law violations. Therefore the present unusual tendency to break into "Hotel" Hunt is a matter to cause comment.

There are at present twenty inmates there, and if the drift in that direction continues it will necessitate an addition to that hostelry, or else the "boarders" will have to be "farmed" out to the other counties, as its full capacity is now about reached.

IMPROVING THE HOME

At this season one's thoughts naturally turn toward house cleaning and improving the home. Among other things that make the home attractive, good framed pictures are perhaps the most important.

In framing pictures, the careful selection of the frame is as important as the selection of a becoming hat, but unlike hats, fortunately the most appropriate frame is often the less expensive. Framing is done at the Davis Music Store with this thought always in mind: that when the work is finished it will be tasteful and artistic.

Now is a good time to have pictures framed, while there is such a good selection of framing in stock.

The County Court held an adjourned term Saturday for the dispatch of some unfinished business. Mrs. Frank Hand, of Leadwood, alleged to be insane, was brought before them, examined and ordered to be sent to State Hospital No. 4 as a county patient.

The Easter meeting of the Monday Club was held at the home of Mrs. J. C. Morris on last Monday. Piano solos were rendered by Mrs. Robt. Forgyth and Mrs. J. C. Morris, a vocal selection by Mrs. R. P. Lang and a reading entitled "The Reservation," by Mrs. F. S. Weber, concluded a very interesting program.

Deputy State Game Warden Ed. Byington was around again on his monthly trip this week to see and hear what as to any violations in that line, but we haven't any of that kind of people in Madison. Of course Ed. is a sociable fellow and we are always glad to have him come around anyway. —Fredericktown Standard.

J. C. Williams returned the last of the week from several weeks visit to Mineral Wells, Texas, where his health was apparently considerably benefited. He reports the recent discovery of oil near Gordon, Texas, only a short distance from some of his land. His host of friends will hope that "Uncle Joe" will break into the list of "oil" financiers.

FARM BUREAU NOTES

2. It may rent an elevator.
3. It may build or buy an elevator.

Elevator Company Contracts With Sales Associations

The relations of the local farmers' elevator company or grain growers' association to the grain grower have been explained. Its relation to the central sales association will be as follows:

1. It will sign a contract with the central sales association, agreeing to deliver all grain received from those farmers who are members of the national sales agency to that sales agency for sale, for a period of probably five yrs.

2. It may ship its grain to the central sales association on consignment, in which case determination of time and place of sale will rest with the local elevator company or grain growers' association. The sales association will sell the grain to the best possible advantage, when received, and remit the proceeds, less selling costs, to the local elevator company or grain growers' association.

3. It may pool its grain with the grain of one or more other similar farmers' elevators or grain growers' associations. Such pools may cover any desired territory, time, and kind of grain. All pools involving more than one locality will be under the direction and management of the central sales association and the time and place of sale will be determined by that association, provided our committee of attorneys will enforce that as legal. Money for advance payment on pooled grain will be furnished by the sales association. When all the grain in any pool is sold, the balance due the local elevator company or grain growers' association will be paid to it, based on the average price received for that kind, variety and grade, and less necessary handling and selling costs.

The Board of Directors.

The central sales association will be governed by a board of directors, the number of which has not yet been decided upon. These directors will hire a manager, department heads and other employees, and will direct the business policies of the association. Directors will be elected as follows:

1. Each local community will elect one delegate for each 100 members or major fraction thereof. These delegates will represent the membership at an annual meeting to be held in each congressional district.

2. The congressional district meeting will elect one delegate to the annual national meeting. This delegate will cast one or more votes at the national meeting, depending either on the number of members represented or the amount of surplus grain produced, or both.

3. The national meeting will elect the board of directors of the national sales association.

A Non-Profit, Non-Stock Organization

The sales association will be a non-profit, non-capital stock organization. All money received from the sale of grain will be returned to the growers through the local elevator company or grain growers' association, less the cost of operation.

The sales association will have the following departments, and others if the directors so decide:

1. Research and statistics. It will be the purpose of this department to collect in the most complete and thorough manner possible, information about all world conditions affecting the supply of grain and demand for it.

2. Organization.

3. Publicity.

Subsidiary Companies

The sales association will have authority to establish branch offices, to organize such subsidiary corporations as its directors may deem necessary, and control such subsidiaries through the ownership or control of the voting stock or otherwise. The most essential of these subsidiary corporations are as follows:

1. Warehousing corporation. To own or lease terminal and other elevators and the necessary equipment.

2. Export corporation. To handle grain for export.

3. Finance corporation. This corporation will probably not do a general banking business. The principal function will be to accept warehouse receipts, issue its own short notes against them, and so provide funds to help finance the whole grain marketing system.

4. Selling companies. To acquire seats on grain exchanges, and to dispose of grain thereon in the usual way. Legislation to open these exchanges to farmers' companies is now being pushed in several states, with the backing of the Committee of 17.

Practically every feature in the proposed plan has stood the test of experience in one or more successful farmers' marketing organizations. The committee realizes keenly that there are many problems in grain marketing that are not found in the marketing of other commodities. It realizes just as keenly the value of previous co-operative marketing experience, and has crystallized that study into a plan which it believes will prove more efficient than would any plan transplanted bodily from some other section or industry to the grain belt of the United States.

Advantages of Committee's Plan

Some of the special advantages of this plan are as follows:

1. It does not scrap the existing system of farmers' co-operative elevators but makes them an integral part of the grain marketing plan.

2. It will not be necessary to secure contracts covering a large percentage of the grain of the United States before the sales association can begin to operate.

3. Grain can be handled at first with almost no change in present methods. While the greatest results will not come until later, when a large portion of the grain is under the direction of the national sales agency, the immediate benefits will be great. Farmers will be on the inside of the grain marketing system, instead of outside. They will be able to make their influence felt at once in minimizing and finally eliminating the unfair practices which work so greatly to their disadvantage. By directing grain movement over the shortest and cheapest routes a tremendous saving in freight and other handling charges can be made.

4. A way is provided for the development of grain pooling as rapidly as this is found to be desirable, without staking the success of the movement on a rigid pooling plan without other alternatives.

5. Financial difficulties are guarded against by the provisions for a strongly financed, farmer-owned finance corporation.

6. The success of the plan is not dependent on special or class legislation.
